" I have been an Estate Agent for many more years than I wish to remember and throughout that time, as e commerce has developed, I have commissioned several websites by companies large and small. Having just bought an old established firm of Estate Agents that really was in the dark ages with their technology, I had very specific website requirements and rather than buy a site 'off the shelf' as most agents do, I wanted to incorporate some original features within a bespoke site, that allowed my business to stand out from the crowd.

I had a 'brainstorming' meeting with Ben who had designed a site for me in 2004 and he introduced me to Craig. Within a few days they had put some draft ideas together and created a template with design and layout ideas. Frankly I was amazed that the ideas just flowed and apart from a few tweaks, I had very little to do.

I was contacted about the evolution of the site almost daily and both Ben and Craig came up with some innovative ideas themselves. I even had an email on a Sunday!

I cannot recommend these guys highly enough, they listened to my requirements, understood what I was asking for and went out and did it. They actually surpassed my expectations by a long way and I can only imagine that their reputation will grow with an ever increasing portfolio and client bank.

Well done Ben and Craig and thanks for all your hard work on my site. It has only been live for a few weeks now but I know from comments received that it is already improving my companies image."
